ALCOPA

DEVELOPING TOGETHER

Who we are

In 1937, Albert and Constance Moorkens created Alcopa as a company dedicated to the manufacturing and distribution of motorcycles. Their initiative laid the groundwork for a long-standing entrepreneurial journey.

Today, that same spirit lives on in a family-owned, diversified investment company. We continue to be guided by the core values that shaped our origins: entrepreneurship, performance and respect.

Our mission

As a specialized investment firm, our mission is to responsibly allocate resources in meaningful businesses. We are a long-term partner taking significant positions in sustainable mid-sized European companies.

Message from the managing directors

Axel Moorkens
Managing director

Damien Heymans
Managing director

For Alcopa and its portfolio companies, 2025 was a year of progress made in demanding circumstances. The year was shaped by a series of significant external shocks that weighed on business confidence and investment across Europe. The sweeping tariffs announced by the Trump administration in April sent shockwaves through global trade, introducing a level of uncertainty that few had anticipated and that was felt well beyond the sectors directly targeted. At the same time, an intensification of Chinese export pressure impacted European markets in several segments, affecting domestic manufacturers.

Closer to home, Europe's markets continued to struggle under the weight of still elevated financing costs and subdued consumer confidence, with households remaining cautious despite some improvement in real wages. Taken together, these forces created a challenging setting for the industries in which our portfolio companies operate. In this context, the diversity of our portfolio proved its worth, as resilience and growth in most of our companies provided balance where others managed adverse headwinds.

Across our portfolio, the year brought both meaningful progress and real challenges. Several companies delivered strong results and continued to develop their activities, while others navigated more difficult market conditions with the steadfast support of Alcopa as a long-term shareholder. We supported our portfolio companies in a number of strategic moves. CBM completed the full acquisition of Retrofleet, becoming its sole shareholder and deepening its commitment to the electrification of public transport. Tego continued its buy-and-build strategy with the acquisition of a distributor in Germany, further strengthening its European presence. Groupe François reached a defining milestone with the commissioning of its new sawmill at the Virton site, completing a substantial multi-year investment program that also encompassed a new combined heat and power plant and expanded wood storage capacity. This program positions the company for a new phase of industrial development and greater self-sufficiency.

2025 was also a year of further development of our portfolio. In October, we acquired a majority stake in AirVision, a Belgian specialist in industrial air handling and ventilation systems based in Louvain-la-Neuve. With deep technical expertise, a loyal customer base and clear potential for further development, AirVision is a compelling addition to our portfolio. We look forward to supporting the company's growth in the years to come.

Continues on next page

The results are a reflection of the collective efforts of the people across our group. The talent, commitment and resilience of the teams at Alcopa and across our portfolio companies are the true foundation of our success. Their ability to perform under uncertainty and to keep building for the long term is something we deeply value.

Looking ahead to 2026, our strategic ambitions are intact and our financial foundations are solid. We are nonetheless conscious that the geopolitical environment remains unsettled. The recent escalation in the Middle East has brought the risk of renewed energy price volatility into sharp focus, a challenge our portfolio companies are no strangers to. We will continue to back our management teams in navigating these uncertainties, while staying active in our search for new investments in businesses built to create lasting value.

As we move forward, our commitment to developing together and investing in meaningful businesses is as strong as ever. We thank our shareholders, our management teams and all those who contributed to this year's progress for their trust, their energy and their dedication. ●

Notable events

2025 was a year of steady progress, marked by new additions to our portfolio, meaningful developments across our existing companies, and strategic decisions that reflect our confidence in what we are building together.

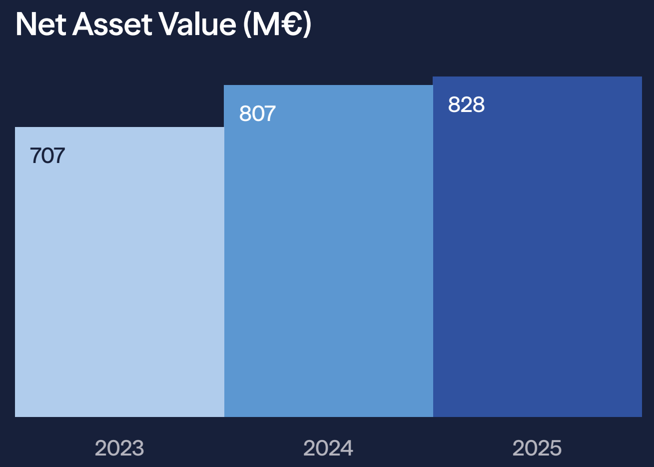
Key figures

Alcopa delivered solid performance in 2025, driven by strong organic growth and successful add-on acquisitions by our portfolio companies resulting in a further strengthening of our Net Asset Value.



Alcopa has transitioned from Belgian GAAP to IFRS in 2024, specifically adopting the Investment Entity framework under IFRS 10. This shift aligns with Alcopa Group's evolution into a family office, following its transformation from a vertically integrated automotive group. The new accounting framework applies as of the 2024 financial statements, with restated comparative figures for 2023 and an opening balance sheet dated 31 December 2022.
As a result, the scope of the presented figures is more limited and may differ from those published in last year's activity report.

AIRVISION

- Key highlights

In October 2025, Alcopa acquired a majority stake in AirVision alongside existing management and its new Managing Director, Ludovic Battard, previously a member of Alcopa's investment team. This partnership reflects a strong conviction in the company's long-term potential and ambition for further development.

As part of the strategic value creation plan, the primary focus has been on accelerating commercial momentum by structuring business development activities, strengthening marketing initiatives, and improving internal processes to enable a more proactive sales approach.

Beyond organic growth, selective external opportunities will be pursued where they create clear strategic value.

BUFFET CRAMPON

- Key highlights

Buffet Crampon celebrated its 250th anniversary in 2025, marked by a flagship concert at the Théâtre des Champs-Élysées in Paris and the launch of a number of limited-series instruments. The success of the anniversary celebration once again confirms Buffet Crampon's brand strength and leadership in wind instruments.

While 2025 remained a demanding market environment marked by cautious purchasing patterns and elevated inventory levels in certain regions, the company demonstrated resilience supported by the anniversary activities with encouraging momentum toward year-end.

Performance in Japan and across several European markets reflected the strength of Buffet Crampon's brand and distribution network, while North America showed signs of renewed activity driven by school demand.Although China remained more subdued due to inventory and market dynamics, the Group continues to actively manage channel alignment and market positioning.

Key highlights

Sapim delivered continued growth in a still-fragile bicycle market, supported by solid momentum in its core components and a favourable product mix. Demand for high-value solutions, including triple-butted spokes and aluminium nipples, remained strong, reflecting Sapim's positioning in performance-driven segments.

While certain product categories experienced pricing pressure, the company maintained customer loyalty through high service levels, product innovation and reliable delivery. Europe showed encouraging resilience, partially offsetting softer conditions in other regions.

With a clear focus on operational excellence, automation and disciplined cost management, Sapim is further strengthening its industrial platform. At the same time, ongoing innovation efforts remain aligned with long-term value creation, reinforcing Sapim's reputation as a global leader in quality and performance.

Groupe François demonstrated resilience in a more dynamic market environment, maintaining solid activity levels. The strength of its long-standing customer relationships and integrated operating model once again proved to be key differentiators. The commissioning of the new sawmill in the fourth quarter marked the successful completion of the Group's major investment program. A steady ramp-up of this complex equipment is expected over 2026.

Together with the state-of-the-art wood storage facility and CHP plant, these investments enhance capacity, improve sourcing flexibility, lower carbon emissions, strengthen circularity and energy self-sufficiency, and position Groupe François for sustainable long-term growth. Groupe François had strategically awaited the sawmill's completion to advance its growth objectives.

- Key highlights

The housing and renovation market remained challenging, impacted by continued pressure on construction activity and consumer demand. In this context, Group Thys focused on operational discipline and adaptability, while continuing to serve both professional and DIY customers with a broad and accessible product offering.

The doors segment demonstrated solid resilience, with stable volumes and a continued shift toward more affordable models that align well with current market demand. While other product categories were more impacted by market dynamics, bathrooms showed encouraging signs of improvement toward year-end.

At the same time, Group Thys successfully implemented its new ERP system, now fully operational, marking an important milestone in its digital transformation and strengthening the foundation for future efficiency and growth. In addition, the company launched a new production line aimed at increasing its manufacturing capacity.

- Key highlights

Tego sustained solid growth momentum, supported by continued commercial development across its core product categories. Performance was mainly supported by strong new client acquisition, deeper penetration of existing accounts through cross-selling and share-of-wallet gains, the introduction of premium solar control films competing with leading market players, and the securing of an exclusive supplier agreement in a major European country.

During the year, the Group successfully completed its rebranding from Solar Screen to Tego, reflecting its evolution into a broader, multi-brand platform. This new identity better aligns with its international ambitions and expanded product portfolio beyond window films. The rebranding strengthens brand coherence, enhances visibility and supports commercial synergies, reinforcing Tego's positioning as a premium surface solutions platform.

In line with its strategy to strengthen local market presence, Tego completed the acquisition and integration of a German distributor, further enhancing its distribution network and long-term growth platform.

The core divisions further strengthened their market position, driven by high service standards and the successful continued development of the equivalent quality brand offering.

Following the completion of a major project, rail activities evolved towards a more balanced and value-driven project mix, contributing to improved overall profitability. The Services division continued to gain traction, particularly at Retrofleet, where order intake remains robust. While delivery schedules were influenced by broader supply chain dynamics, management is actively managing these challenges to sustain growth and performance.

In April, CBM increased its participation in Retrofleet to full ownership, simplifying the Group structure and further consolidating its strategic positioning in retrofit and sustainable mobility solutions.

Expansion in Germany continued, strengthening Moteo's European presence. Internally, preparations progressed for a new ERP system set for early 2026, and long-term partnerships were cultivated to reinforce sustainable growth and market competitiveness.

Our approach

Alcopa's way of collaborating with its portfolio companies revolves around four key principles. To live by those principles, Alcopa and the invested companies agree on a set of mutual commitments.

	We respect our companies' autonomy	We act as a sparring partner	We provide long-term capital	We share the value created
Our commitments	Trust We believe in subsidiarity and think that decisions should be taken at the most immediate level possible.	Commitment We make it a point to develop an in-depth understanding of each business, its challenges and its sources of success.	No exit pressure When we invest, we do not have a predefined investment horizon.	Incentives We align interests of all parties to share the value created.
Our commitments	Straightforward interactions We keep a healthy balance between our stewardship duties and the implied requirements.	Support We leverage our experience across the portfolio by supporting our companies on their projects.	Resources The organic and external growth of our companies always have the priority in the allocation of our resources.	Liquidity We are ready to provide liquidity on shares owned by managers and co-investors, should the need arise.
Our expectations	Transparency As a reference shareholder, we ensure proper supervision and expect reliable information.	Openness We may not always agree, but open debate and compromise ensure the best decisions.	Ambition We expect leadership to focus on long-term goals over short-term tactics.	Co-investment We avoid complex packages, preferring straightforward co-investment and shared ownership.
Our expectations	Governance We foster disciplined governance through active boards and consistent strategic dialogue.	Proactivity We expect managers to inspire innovation, embrace entrepreneurship, and collaborate on ideas.	Durability Sustainability and value creation beyond profit are core expectations for our companies.	Liquidity Managers co-invest as active leaders, with shares repurchased if they exit.

Our values

Entrepreneurship

Entrepreneurship is in Alcopa's DNA. It determines the decentralized way we work, the spirit of the men and women who work here and our culture of advancing development.

Performance

Performance is key to Alcopa's development and goes hand in hand with ambitious targets that secure growth, develop pride of managers and satisfaction of shareholders.

Respect

Respect is a major component of our family group's human dimension. It helps build long-lasting relationships with our clients, suppliers, partners and shareholders.

Our approach to ESG

We believe that sustainable value creation requires more than financial discipline. It demands attention to the broader impact of the businesses we invest in and the decisions we make together with them.

As a family-owned investor with a multi-generational perspective, acting responsibly is not a constraint. It is a natural expression of who we are. ESG is therefore woven into our investment approach from day one, from the due diligence we conduct before entering a company to the ongoing dialogue we maintain with our portfolio companies. We work with them to set meaningful ambitions, track progress against clear indicators, and continuously raise the bar on governance, environmental performance and social responsibility.

1. Pre-acquisition

- Screen deals against the exclusion list
- Conduct materiality checks based on sector
- Perform in-depth ESG due diligence to identify risks and mitigation factors, as well as potential opportunities as part of the value creation plan.

2. Ownership

Responsibility

- Assign ESG responsibility within the portfolio company
- Oversee and track ESG progress through established governance and reporting processes at Alcopa level

Review & action plan

- Conduct double materiality assessment based on Alcopa's ESG impact, risk, and opportunity framework
- Define ESG ambitions and develop action plans

Monitoring & reporting

- Organise annual ESG questionnaire
- Integrate ESG into all board decisions
- Publish annual ESG report

3. Exit

- Integrate ESG positioning and performance evolution into the selling proposition
- Assess ESG criteria and intentions of potential buyer

ESG framework, key insights, and portfolio metrics[1]

Our ESG framework is designed to be both rigorous and practical. Applied consistently across our diverse portfolio through an annual questionnaire, it covers environmental, social and governance dimensions and provides the foundation for meaningful dialogue, target-setting and progress tracking with each of our companies.

Governance

Alcopa complies with the corporate governance obligations of the Belgian Companies Code and is proud to apply a governance structure that is clear and transparent. Our corporate governance rests on three pillars.

Each company in the portfolio has its own board of directors, responsible for strategy and overall guidance. There is at least one member of Alcopa's executive committee and a family shareholding member sitting on each board, with independent directors and members of the management completing the membership.

The Board of Directors comprises Pénélope Moorkens, Damien Heymans, Axel Moorkens, Christophe Vandoorne, Sophie Lecloux, Michel Denayer (Chairman), Diane Govaerts, and Philippe Moorkens.

The Executive Committee comprises Laurent-Paul Van Steirtegem (Investments), Axel Moorkens (Managing Director), Damien Heymans (Managing Director), Laurence Jacqmain (Legal), Kurt Heene (Finance)

The CAF (Conseil de l'Actionnariat Familial) represents the family shareholding. Its members, appointed by the shareholders' assembly, are Caroline Wauters, Pénélope Moorkens (Chairwoman), Maximilien Lefèvre, Axel Moorkens, Christophe Moorkens, Olivier Heymans, and Philippe Moorkens. The CAF safeguards company values, addresses shareholder matters, and fosters a shared sense of purpose among shareholders..
